

COVID-19 Policy for CMC-South Conference 2022

In order to hold an amazing conference that is safe for all, we are complying with the COVID-19 precautions set by the State of California and the City of Palm Springs.

Although we are not requiring proof of a negative COVID-19 test, we are taking the following precautions:

- We encourage all attendees, speakers, and exhibitors to take a COVID-19 test the day before attending the conference.
- If an attendee, speaker, or exhibitor have symptoms and/or test positive for COVID-19, please do not come to the conference and contact us.
- We encourage all attendees, speakers, and exhibitors to have a mask. There will be some masks available at the conference.
- We encourage all attendees, speakers, and exhibitors to wear a mask while indoors.
- We encourage all attendees, speakers, and exhibitors to respect personal space and practice physical distancing where appropriate.
- We will monitor the attendance in each meeting room and capacities will be enforced.

All facilities being used for the conference fully comply with rules set by the State of California and the City of Palm Springs. All high touch areas will be cleaned regularly by staff. The ventilation systems in each meeting room meet and/or exceed the state and federal guidelines.

Should circumstances change with regards to city, state, and/or federal guidance regarding masking, testing, and/or vaccination requirements, CMC-South reserves the right to update our policies and procedures to align with these guidelines. In the event of changes, we will update this announcement, our website, and communicate these changes to all attendees, speaker, and exhibitors.
